Videogame Nation

Manchester's stunning contemporary exhibition centre Urbis encourages visitors to grab the controls with a new exhibition that celebrates the best of British video gaming from its birth in the 1970s to the present day. Interactivity is the name of the game with classic and cutting edge games, all available for free play and organised tournaments, structured around you and your guests enjoying an evening of team building, networking and a little friendly competition!

Urbis is offering a selection of packages for you and your guests to explore the world of videogames; each package is designed as a complete evening's entertainment.

Videogame Nation includes some vintage classic games to play, these are free for you and your guests to enjoy all night long, with the showcase exhibits including retro arcade and home computer classics, and the latest in cutting edge technology, your guests can enjoy some truly unique competitions. The winners will even receive prizes; presented at the end of your nights entertainment!

Packages

Videogame Nation special events are available for 20 – 80 guests (package two up to 60, dependent on availability), starting at 7pm with reception drinks and canapés, you will be met by our team of coordinators where those who wish to compete will be organised into a tournament, you will be shown round the exhibition and given free rein on all the games included, the tournaments will take place amongst all the other games with drinks available throughout. At 9pm, you and your guests can enjoy more canapés or a meal, a couple of celebratory drinks... and await the results!

Venue hire is £450.00 for the evening.
